All Catholics from the day following their 14th birthday, are required to abstain from meat on Good Friday, regardless of age. Catholics, from the day following their 18th birthday until the day following their 59th birthday, are required to fast on Good Friday. This means, only one full meal may be taken; no eating between meals is allowed. Food may be taken on two other occasions during the day, but the combined total must not equal a full meal. Liquids (frappes and milk shakes are not considered liquids) do not break the fast. Those whose health truly does not permit fast or abstinence are excused.

Christ's last command: Put down the sword!

Because the accounts of the Lord's passion have such richness, we do well to partake of them in small bites. At times, the smallest details, carefully preserved by the evangelists, reveal to us the greatest truths.

Consider the appearance of two sharp pointed weapons in St. John's Passion: the sword wielded by Peter at the time of the Lord's arrest and the lance wielded by the Roman soldier shortly after the death of Jesus.

These two weapons, and their effects, show forth two radically contradictory approaches to the human relationship with the divine. First, consider Peter's sword. St. John carefully preserves the detail: Then Simon Peter, who had a sword, drew it, struck the high priest's slave and cut off his right ear. The slave's name was Malchus.

In the person of Peter, we see arrogance erupt into "holy" violence, which really denies the ways of God and ultimately reveals Peter's own sad impotence. Moreover, note well that Peter's violence assaults a slave, a bystander who simply had accompanied his superior to the place of arrest. Peter's sword wounds and maims. It fails in its absurd mission. In response Jesus utters his last command: Put your sword back into its sheath.

Moments before Jesus gives himself up entirely for the salvation of others, Peter, the designated leader of the band of apostles, still does not understand the ways of his Lord.

Now, we turn to the other weapon, the lance. St. John writes: One of the soldiers pierced his side with a lance, and at once blood and water came out.

Though a lance is made for violence, in this case it has another use. Jesus had already died; and so the lance could not inflict death. Rather, the lance became a creative tool, which the Lord did not resist at all. Indeed, one could rightly say that the Lord had awaited that lance all his life.

The thrust of the lance does not destroy. Instead, it acts creatively. St. John Chrysostom, the great theologian of the Greek-speaking Eastern Church, makes this point in his 4th century catechesis on the "Blood of Christ." He wrote this: Since the symbols of baptism and the holy eucharist flowed from his side, it was from his side that Christ fashioned the Church, as he had fashioned Eve from the side of Adam.... As God then took a rib from Adam's side to fashion a woman, so Christ has given us blood and water from his side to fashion the Church.

Which do we value most? Peter's sword or the soldier's lance? We find both in the life of the broader Christian Church. Those who live in fear and anger, not really trusting in the quiet and persistent power of God's grace, are quick to grasp Peter's sword, eager to "defend God" -- as if God needed our help.

By contrast, the soldier's lance inflicts the unresisted wound in the side of Christ, and that wound is true origin of the Church. If we embrace our origin, then we must obey the Lord's last command: Put down the sword!

Every day we face a basic choice: to brandish Peter's sword, which ultimately fails, or to accept the lance that causes the wound of Love. All that we hear and do during Holy Week compels us decide.

Fr. Michael Kerper
