Mary as Queen: What does it mean?

As people who live in a democratic society without hereditary rulers, the notion of royalty strikes us as obsolete, even offensive. After all, the United States emerged from a revolution against the British monarchy. Indeed, those who supported the revolution wanted a republican form of government, which, at the time, seemed quite radical because it rejected monarchy. How, then, do we make sense of the feast of the Queenship of Mary, which occurs on Friday, August 22?

To begin with, we must concede that Sacred Scripture never directly identifies Mary as a queen. The trappings of queenship – rich garments, crowns, scepters, and thrones – surely would have been alien to Mary, a poor, simple, and humble woman. So, why does the Church continue to refer to Mary as a queen?

First of all, the feast of the Queenship of Mary has a quasi-political origin. While Catholics began invoking Mary as queen centuries ago, the feast of her queenship originated fairly recently – in 1954. Pope Pius XII created the feast to assert that Mary embodied the best form of political governance. Please remember that in 1954 the Cold War between the Soviet Union and the West had intensified and everyone lived in fear of nuclear war. By lifting up Mary as the true queen, Pope Pius XII offered her as an alternative to the “New Man” of Soviet totalitarianism and the raw forms of consumerism and materialism rampant in the West. The feast, then, enshrined Mary as the “model” of human personhood.

Second, the Queenship of Mary reminds us of the kinship that exists between the human and divine. Whereas Christ is uniquely human and divine, Mary shares his “royal status” by virtue of her motherhood. Pope Pius XII made this point when he established the feast. He wrote: “From [Mary’s] union with Christ the King, she assuredly obtains so eminent a status that she stands above all created things.”

This “eminent status,” however, extends to all Christians and people of good will. Just as a king or queen should embody and reflect the best qualities of a nation’s people, Mary does the same. Because we are the adopted children of God -- who is the only true King -- and Mary -- who is our Queen-Mother, we also have royal status.

To many, this seems very strange, even implausible. But the Rite of Baptism of Children always includes a “crowning.” After every child is baptized, the priest or deacon then anoints the child’s head with Sacred Chrism while saying: [God] anoints you with the chrism of salvation. As Christ was anointed Priest, Prophet, and King, so may you live always as a member of his body, sharing everlasting life.”

On August 22, then, the Church simply reminds us of our own great dignity, for our true mother is also truly a queen.
